RABBI'S MESSAGE

Shalom Temple Beth Sholom haverim,

We are beginning the last two months of the busy synagogue calendar year, but we are certainly leaving the year behind with a kol hakavod. In mid-May, many of our TBS members will leave for London and then to Vilnius, Warsaw, and Krakow for our first Jewish Heritage trip. No doubt that when we return, there will be much to share with the rest of the congregation.

Then, on the heels of returning from Europe, we will be celebrating our Shavuot holiday, a time to accentuate the primary place in our Judaism for Jewish learning. I hope you will join us for our terrific Tikkun Leyl Shavuot Thursday night, May 25th, for our study hours together. We will certainly have an all-star line-up as we had last year—more details to come, with services at 6:45 pm and our Tikkun sessions beginning around 7:30 pm.

As the Rabbis taught: Talmud Torah k'neged kulam—the study of Torah supercedes all other Mitzvot (Commandments), because without Torah study, Jewish learning, we would never be able to fulfill any of our tradition's most sacred demands upon us.

I know that Jewish learning is not exactly the priority of most of our people. Without the effort we have made at TBS to highlight the imperative of study, classes, and trips, whenever the opportunity arises for filling our minds and hearts, our congregation's calendar would be empty of our highest commitments. The word for “heart” and “mind” in Hebrew is the same—LEV. Without the mind, there can be no heart. The heart alone is bereft of direction without the nurturing of the mind.

This centrality of Jewish education to our very existence as a people was made ever so clearly with the results released of the latest Pew Poll. Here are some results of this extremely reliable Pew Poll, taken just three years since the last Pew Poll:

- 1) On a positive note—the number of self-identifying Jews is up
- 2) Interfaith marriage continues to drive down Jewish communal engagement
- 3) The Reform and Conservative movements continue to contract
- 4) 41% of American Jews believe religious organizations “do more harm than good”
- 5) 1/6th of American Jews believe it is too expensive to be part of the Jewish community
- 6) 70% believe there is much more antisemitism than there was 5 years ago.
- 7) 16% of American Jews take Jewish communal and religious life as primary to their lives
- 8) 34% of affiliated American Jews have strong Jewish identities, but Jewish religious practice plays a less central role in their lives
- 9) 34% of American Jews feel ambivalent about their Jewish identity
- 10) 16% are completely alienated from Jewish life
- 11) In 2020 75% of American Jews polled felt that being Jewish was either important or somewhat important (That figure in 2023 is now 72%)
- 12) Jewish identity seems to be going up, but affiliation is going down
- 13) 56% of American Jews seldom attend religious services; up from 52% in 2021
- 14) 75% said that Shabbat means nothing to them; that figure was 61% in 2020
- 15) Orthodox Jewry remains at 10% of American Jews; just three years ago, 54% of American Jews belonged to non-Orthodox congregations...37% Reform, and 17% Conservative; now the figure is 42% of American Jews affiliate with a non-Orthodox org or synagogue, 28% Reform and only 14% Conservative. In 2020 32% of American Jews said they had no affiliation at all. Only 43% of American Jewry belong to non-Orthodox synagogues.

These realities make the vision and idealism that are the core of our TBS congregation even more imperative. We must do everything we can to reverse the erosion of Jewish life and Jewish education.

Here's a Quiz on Jewish identity you might enjoy taking with your dear ones...where do you stand in the scheme of Jewish life today?

1) How important is being Jewish in your life?

Very important    Somewhat Important    Not too important    Not at all important

2) To what extent do you consider yourself a spiritual or religious person?

Very much so    Moderately so    Slightly so    Not so at all

3) How much, if at all, do you feel a sense of belonging to the Jewish people?

A great deal    Some    Not much    None at all

4) How much responsibility, if at all, do you feel to help fellow Jews worldwide?

A great deal    Some    Not much    None at all

5) Are most of your close friends Jewish?

Most of them    Some of them    Hardly any at all    None of them

6) I want a Jewish community for:

Religious identity

Cultural identity

Political engagement

Sense of community

I don't want a community

7) Do you believe we have a rich American Jewish future?

Definitely Not    If we make a few changes    Absolutely

8) How emotionally attached are you to Israel?

Very attached    Somewhat attached    Not too attached    Not at all attached.

There are more questions from the Tablet Magazine Quiz "What Kind of Jew are you?" but this gives you some taste for the kinds of questions being raised among Jewish leaders and especially synagogues everywhere. The discussions as to who we are and where we are going are critical ones and we will keep engaging, learning, debating, lifting our hearts and souls as long as we are blessed to be part of our Temple Beth Sholom community, a light unto our people.

My wishes to each of you for a Shavuot Sameach.

Rabbi Stuart Altshuler

The Antiques Roadshow - Cantors Edition

By Cantor Matt Austerklein

Beyond its function, what makes an item special is its story. Nowhere is this fact perhaps more on display than on the TV program, “The Antiques Roadshow,” which began in the UK in 1977 and has spawned many international versions, including in the USA. My wife, Rabbi Elyssa Austerklein, and I enjoy this program whenever we can – not just for the excitement of a surprising find but for the history and personality which come through seemingly ordinary, old items. Over the last few months, I have encountered several items relating to Jewish Music history. So for this month’s article, I have curated my version of Antiques Roadshow and am here to tell you the fascinating stories behind three special items:

1. The Overlooked Display Case

After attending a family service at a synagogue in Cleveland, I turned and walked past the library, which featured a display case with old books. Much to my astonishment, one of these books was labeled only “Jewish Music Book, 1803.” Since printed Jewish music is very rare prior to the mid-19th century, I arranged to return to the synagogue with its cantor and confirmed my suspicion: The unlabeled music book was none other than Benedetto Marcello’s Estro-Poetico Armonico – a book of madrigal psalms by the noted composer first published in 1724, which features eleven melodies from the Jews of Venice. Notated from right to left with Hebrew characters, the most well-known of these melodies today is “Maoz Tzur” – the original Ashkenazic version, which likely predated the hymn-like one we sing today. In my research, I discovered that Marcello’s book of Psalms and Jewish-inspired madrigals was reprinted three times – first in Italy (1724), then in London (1757), and again in Venice (1803). The cantor of the synagogue and I were thrilled to finally give some well-deserved attention to this precious piece in Jewish music history – especially seeing as it had sat in a synagogue display case untouched for almost thirty-five years!

2. A Manuscript Rediscovered

I once had the opportunity to be consulted as an expert on an unknown auction item which transformed some of my own research. Some time ago, a gentleman from the Kestenbaum auction company in New York approached me about a manuscript of a satire of cantors – the company had owned and tried to sell it back in 2007 but with no luck - perhaps because so little was known about it at the time. But to me, this little piece of parchment was nothing short of a revelation. It was a hitherto unknown manuscript for one of my principal sources - Shlosa Tzoakin – an anonymous, rhymed, and scathing critique of Ashkenazi cantors penned in Amsterdam at the turn of the 18th century. Published as a sort of poster known as a “broadside,” it was popular enough to be reprinted in an expanded form in Prague, enraging a local cantor from the Bohemian suburbs who penned his own booklet as an impassioned response on behalf of his colleagues. This timely and fascinating manuscript greatly enriched my research – and also perhaps helped to sell the item as well (it sold this past January for over three times its 2007 pre-auction estimate)!

3. Signatures Tell a Story

Two Hanukkahs ago, my wife got an amazing Hanukkah present for me. On the surface, it was just the title page of Cantor Betzalel Brun’s (1860-1918) published books of high holiday choral music. But on the back, an inscription reads (in Hebrew): “To Fordhaus Ben-Tzisi, with appreciation and respect, from the Board of the Agudas HaZomir in Łódź; June 2, 1938.” Fordhaus Ben-Tzisi was the founder of the Bible Chorus in Israel in the 1920s, which performed biblical oratorios from the Western canon. HaZomir was the large and prominent Jewish choral society of Łódź, Poland; it gave its final known performance in the Łódź ghetto in 1941. The choir’s anthem, “HaZamir” by Leo Loeb, is still sung today by the HaZamir International Jewish Teen Choir. The signatures on the item represented a special moment in Jewish choral history in which Jewish choirs in British Palestine & Poland forged friendships before the shattering disruption of the Nazi invasion. I’ll be giving a whole session on the history of this item at the North American Jewish Choral Festival (NACJF), July 9-13.

Dear Congregants,

Passover is behind us, and I'm happy to report that our Congregational Seder was a huge success! We had 158 participants at the beautiful Seder led by Rabbi Altshuler and Cantor Austerklein. Thank you to our sponsors and Saranee Newman for putting the tables together. It's a tremendous job, and Saranee does it so effortlessly!

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Celebrating the holidays with our TBS family is such a joy. If you've participated, you know...if you haven't, consider joining us next year!

Are you in an "almost summer" state of mind? Isn't it hard to believe that Memorial Day will be here soon? Time is just flying!

I have always loved Memorial Day Weekend. I use it as a weekend to recharge, and I find myself embracing the unofficial start of summer with open arms, a peaceful mind, and an open heart. I want to be physically, emotionally, and spiritually present so I can embrace this holiday and remember those who fought and died to protect us and keep us free.

Of course, Americans have come to embrace Memorial Day weekend as a time for barbecues, graduations, celebrations, parades, summer fashion changes, and vacations. We use it as a time to kick back, slow down, and ease into summer. I want that, too, but it's hard to embrace that ease when there are so many challenges around us. It's hard for me to rest when there is so much work to be done. There is a lot to do here at TBS. I continue to envision ongoing improvements that will make our spiritual home better, more dynamic, and safer – and we are doing more than imagining! Consider just two items in the works:

- The Strategic Plan is in its final stages. The Planning Team has met for three day-long retreats, and the final plan is expected to be completed by July. Then it will be ready to share with everyone. This has been a labor of love, and I can't wait to see the outcome.
- We're in the process of putting in new doors and windows at the back of the building. These high-impact doors and windows will keep us safe through hurricanes and other weather calamities.

As in yoga and meditation, I find it useful to "set my intentions" for achieving a desired outcome. My intention for this summer is to build and feel safe in a more peaceful, compassionate, loving, caring, and safe world. I invite all of you to join in that goal, working side-by-side with our TBS family and me to make it happen. We don't have to reach perfection – every little bit will help.

Let's start with ourselves and at TBS. When we are angry and unkind to others, our exterior world reflects that. If we spend time looking for fights, we can't use our time and energy to build a more peaceful and compassionate world. If we don't show gratitude for our blessings, we'll be bitter and find no peace anywhere. Building a comfortable environment where we feel safe doesn't end with us, but it certainly starts with each of us individually!

Wishing you a good summer,

Lauren Haven

CONTINUING EDUCATION

Eyewitness to Dachau with Chuck Palmeri Tuesday, May 2, 2023, at 3:30 pm TBS' Sainer Social Hall

Co Sponsored by:

The following is an article by Elizabeth Huntoon Coursen, award-winning author, editor, and publisher, who will accompany World War II veteran Chuck Palmeri as they present his eyewitness account of Dachau's liberation at Temple Beth Sholom on May 2 at 3:30 pm. Admission is free to this presentation which is jointly sponsored by Temple Beth Sholom and

The Jewish Federation of Sarasota-Manatee.

Not too long ago, I got heckled. As a professional speaker of a dozen years' standing and with hundreds of presentations in the hopper, I never thought I'd get heckled simply because my speaking topics are, by and large, historical in nature, and none, in my opinion, are especially controversial. But this particular morning, right here in Sarasota, heckling and disruption is what happened.

Ninety-six-year-old author and World War II veteran Chuck Palmeri and I were just about to present "Eyewitness to Dachau" to a large, well-educated audience. Before the program started, I had been approached by a very irate lady with a pronounced German accent. She was visibly upset that we would be speaking about World War II, the Holocaust, concentration camps, etc. A staffer at the host organization saw the agitated way she was speaking to me and came over and led her away, telling me as she did so that the lady was "easily upset." I dismissed the situation from my mind.

However, the upset lady did not go very far. About 20 minutes later, right as Chuck was talking about what he saw at Dachau, she burst from around the corner and began loudly berating me: Why was I talking about Dachau? Why were people still talking about Dachau? It was over! It was history! Why couldn't people just forget about it and move on?

Given the times we live in, my first thought, of course, was, Is this person armed? Is she carrying a weapon? Could she attack Chuck?

I decided (prayed) that the answers to my questions were, no, no, and no.

Then I turned to the audience and asked, "Who here has been to the Dachau concentration camp?"

Nearly every hand went up.

Then I asked, "Who here has learned something new about Dachau this morning?" And nearly every hand stayed up.

So I turned to this lady and said, as kindly as I could, "This is why we keep talking about Dachau. This is exactly why we keep talking about the Holocaust. We are listening to an American soldier who was an eyewitness. People need to know what he saw. We need to keep talking about what happened there so that we never forget so that the world never forgets."

As the 78th anniversary of the April 29, 1945, liberation of the Dachau concentration camp approaches, God grant that we never forget... Jamais plus. (Never again.)

MEN'S CLUB

The TBS Men's Club has had a busy start to their 2022-2023 season, from guest speakers, activity groups (golf, tennis, cycling, etc.) film matinees with the Idelson Library, and we can't forget about the amazing breakfast series.

Please be on the lookout for what Men's Club has in store when we return from our summer break!

Tennis Anyone?

The TBS Men's Club has restarted their monthly tennis group on the last Thursday of the month. The next session will be May 25, 2023 from 5:30 - 7:00 pm at the Meadows Country Club.

Following tennis, we will be going to a nearby restaurant for a bite to eat. Court rental fee is $10.00 per person.

If you are interested, please contact Norman Walter, normwalt@gmail.com or 941.907.2683.

Everyone is invited! Please include your name, email address, phone number, emergency contact and your current tennis ability (Beginner, Intermediate or Advanced).

We look forward to seeing you on the court!

SISTERHOOD

It is hard to believe that our Sisterhood year is almost over. The Sisterhood year begins on June 1st and concludes at the end of May. We have one more event planned for May. This will be our Sisterhood Installation of Officers. Thanks so much to Susan Weintraub and her Nominating Committee for their diligent work and creating a new slate of officers. On Tuesday, May 9, at 2:00 pm, our new slate will be installed, and it will be a very “sweet” program. I look forward to working with several new members of the board as well as those who will be staying on for the coming two years.

Our Sisterhood is part of the Women’s League for Conservative Judaism Fabulous Florida Region. They are selling Florida Region Tallit Clips to support our Scholarship Fund. They feature our colorful Florida Region logo (which is below) and cost $36.00. If you are interested in purchasing a tallit clip, please email Jody Glass at glass.jody@gmail.com.

I want to once again thank our wonderful Torah Fund Committee for the spectacular Torah Fund Day of Learning and Luncheon held in mid-March. Our speaker, Rabbi Miriam Weisel, inspired us with her topic of Bruriah, a woman of strength. We honored Yvonne Weinsberg with our Light of Torah award. Yvonne’s longtime friend, Anita Mehlman joined us and shared her memories of Yvonne throughout the many years of their friendship. Kathy Burt, our TBS caterer, prepared a magnificent and tasty lunch for those who stayed for this part of the day. Helping her in the preparation was a terrific group of Sisterhood members who made the gazpacho. Putting this together is a gargantuan responsibility. Yasher Koach to all of these dedicated women who served on this committee.

The Sisterhood year is a little like reading the Torah. As soon as we finish, we begin again. We are already planning our programs and events for 2023-2024 and look forward to another year of exciting, educational and engaging programs.

USY & YOUTH

The teens of Temple Beth Sholom breathed in the fresh spring air with a pair of outdoor outings. First, on March 12, SRQUSY hosted peers from St. Petersburg (SPUSY) and Tampa (KAUSY) to tackle the treetop adventure courses at TreeUmph! in Bradenton. We romped across the ropes and zipped high above the ground while building bonds between the Mercaz (Central Florida) chapters.

Then, on March 26, we joined once again with Jteens from all local youth groups for Volunteer B'Yachad (Together) Siesta Beach Cleanup. After doing our part to protect the environment from loads of litter, we played matkot (Israeli paddle ball) in the sand and enjoyed soft-serve ice cream. It was truly a Sunday fun day!

1) What are three words that describe you?

Loyal, goofy, chef.

2) What is your favorite part of being Jewish?

The community that I get to know, whether through camp, shul, or USY.

3) Where do you see yourself in 10 years?

Working in the non-profit sector while living in a house with lots of pets.

Wishing all seniors every success in their future endeavors! To close the 2022-23 season, our teens will be solving an escape room and will hold a year-end goodbye gathering. Have a great summer!
